WEALTH and WISDOM in PERCEPTION to COVID-19

Examples of them are game developers, television shows, news, social media, etc.

Now there are other types of wisdom as well. Which is not on the basis to find the cure but to prevent it. Examples of this wisdom are normal people like us, who use social media, the news, television for good purposes. In which we wear masks, keep social distancing, wash our hands and other acts.

Now we know their meanings examples and differences. We should try to know which one is the most important.

Wisdom can also be described as education/educated person. People who have been enlightened with education have been known world wide, whereas wealth can be described as a person who is good at business and marketing, who have earned their way to be rich and powerful. But in the context of this corona virus pandemic either the person who finds the cure who is enlightened with wisdom becomes popular or the person who contributes in making masks and med packs which is done for making profit; becomes rich and powerful. Examples of people or organization that
