Anime: My Company During Lockdown

A normal anime consists of around 12-25 episodes in each season.

Sometimes it takes more than a week for an episode to come out so people prefer to read manga.

Now what is 'manga'? Well manga are comics just like anime being a cartoon. The biggest difference between a manga and a comic is that manga is read from right whereas comic is read from left to right, which make it tricky for people who just started reading. Another difference is that most of the manga are printed in white and black whereas comics are printed with various colours. In Japanes 'manga' refers to cartooning, comics, and animation. Manga has different names which includes 'Manhwa' in Korean and 'Manhua' in Chinese. Manga is so popular these days 'One piece' a famous anime and Manga out sold more than 490 million copies surpassing Batman which makes one piece the second most selling comic book in the world behind Super Man with 600mil copies.

Every anime is different and unique with different stories and plots. Anime is also classified by genere which includes, Action, Drama, slice of life, ~~and~~ Horror and many more. How every there are other genere which are not included like 'isekai anime'. What is isekai anime? The word isekai translates to different world or otherworld in Japanese, which is completely unheard of. ~~in~~ In this type of anime a 'Mc' main character is transported to another world which has magic and adventure in which a boring Mc life is turned around into an intresting adventure. The isekai anime is one of the most popular types of anime in the 'otaku' world. Otaku translates to a person who is obsesed with computer "anime". So if you watch too much anime you would be called an otaku.

Most of the animies are in two languages they are Japanese and in English. ~~There~~ Japanese anime has subtitle in short sub and English anime which is in english is called Dub.

Most of the ^{otaku's} people just love to watch sub animés because they love how the original voice actors sounds like. There is more attachment in sub than in dub. Most of the people also prefer sub anime than dub is because there are more series available in subbed than in dubbed. Any most of the otaku's are simply too impatient to wait for the dubbed version.

Animies are mostly available in T.U and other paid websites, which makes it hard for people to find a way to watch free anime, however there are illegal websites all around the web server which offers both dub and sub animés in which many people watch anime from, for example kissanime and kissmanga which have already been banned in many countries including Nepal for advertising ~~was~~ inappropriate and pirated content. But it may still work.

(What is anime in my opinion)

Anime in my opinion is a good way of relaxing, that removes tension and releases mental pressure by its varying contents and storylines that make people feel they are in a different world. Most of all we learn different things which include Japanese culture Japanese food, life lessons and learn about relationships. Anime also exposes the ugly side of human nature in some cases which make most people who want to relate their life with the anime. The thing I love about anime is not just entertainment but also an inspiration to do something in life. Gives people a reason to be better than what they are, and motivates them to make something of themselves.

During this boring lockdown anime has been, not only mine but others salvation of entertainment as well. With every new anime and its episodes there is a new experience and the best thing after watching anime is to talk with friends about the plot and story telling of the anime. Telling friends about anime, giving recommendation talking about upcoming anime and manga are the best experience.

I started watching during lockdown when my friends forced me to watch, and by just one episode I was addicted to it. The first anime I watched was Attack on Titan (AOT) which is an Action anime with more than 100 mil copies. I would recommend this anime to anyone who is new to anime. It has 4 seasons with 25 episodes in each season.

Anime is just perfect for wasting free time with every normal anime is 25 minutes, long which is not too short and not too long. Some anime is so good people can't differentiate between reality and fiction. Anime releases our mental health with every new time you spend watching anime.
